OUR ARTISTS

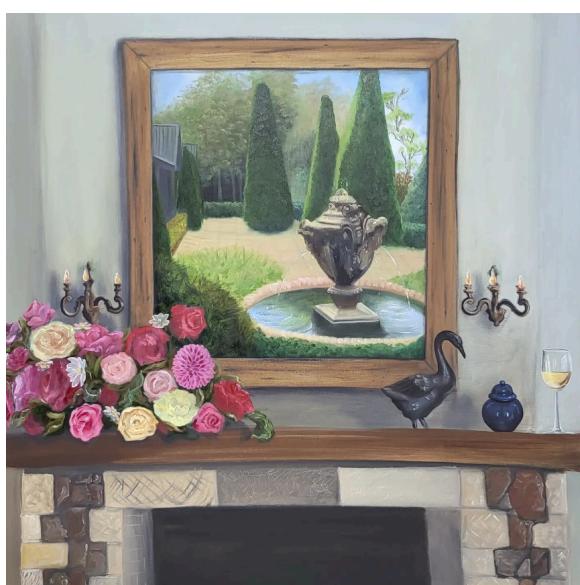

NATALIE WILL

My style has been heavily influenced by the things that I loved unapologetically as a teenager as well as a few other gems that I have picked up on the way to middle age. I feel that when I grew up and became an adult I entered this world of grey and beige. Stuck in uniforms, representing an organisation or an agenda rather than expressing who I was or wanted to be.

JACQUI BROWN

Jacqui Brown's journey into the world of art began amidst the serene landscapes of Burrawang, NSW. Surrounded by the comforting presence of a quilting mother, a crafty nan, and the fond memories of a navy man grandfather who sketched with passion, with each stroke of her brush and every sketch, she invites us to share in the magic of creation and the beauty of new horizons.

CORINNE DANY

With short courses in painting at Julian Ashton Art School in Sydney and a life long love of drawing and fine art, Corinne has been painting since her first residency in 2017.

2 solo exhibitions later Corinne has opened a studio in Mittagong where she shares her time between teaching and her own active art practice selling her work through several local stockists, from her own shop in Dirty Jane's Bowral and painting commissions.

SARAH NORTON

Sarah Norton is a multidisciplinary artist whose work explores themes of place, belonging, and the interplay of textures across various mediums. With a background in interior design, Sarah brings a keen eye for materiality and spatial awareness to her artistic practice. Sarah's creations often draw from the natural world, incorporating hand-woven fibres and organic materials to evoke a sense of connection and grounding.

Erin Adams

Founder of the Pop-Up Project

The Pop-Up Project

The Pop-Up Project was created in 2021 when a group of artists in the beautiful Southern Highlands in NSW wanted to have more opportunities to open their studio doors.

We are dedicated to promoting our artists' work and increasing our visibility. The changes and reach we have had in 3 years is phenomenal! From managing our social media presence to organising exhibitions and securing media features, we have helped our artists reach new audiences and opened doors to exciting opportunities.

Networking and collaboration has meant local artists connect and build relevant contacts, we have seen collaborations that have been game-changing. Through our network, we have met fellow artists, industry professionals, and curators who have enriched our artistic journeys.

We are growing our network for subsidised professional development. With workshops, masterclasses, and mentorship programs in the pipeline. We are committed to growth and providing resources like studio space and opportunities for development.

We look forward to growing the Pop-Up Project, please support us as we continue to create, inspire, and uplift one another. Together, we can make a lasting impact in the world of art! We hope you enjoy your journey.

Erin has become an Arts and Culture native and a champion of supporting the development of the cultural landscape across our beautiful region. Erin utilises her relationship development skills, research, social media and technologies. With a track record of creating and implementing successful education and development programs, Erin continues to support artists and businesses to create strategies that create and tell their stories.
